

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR EVENT PARTICIPANTS DACT

Article 1. Applicability

1. These general terms and conditions apply to all events organised by the Dutch Association of Corporate Treasurers (DACT).
2. Deviations from and/or additions to these general terms and conditions are only valid if agreed in writing.
3. If one or more provisions of these general terms and conditions are found to be wholly or partially invalid or cancelled at any time, the remaining provisions shall remain fully applicable.

Article 2. Definitions

1. In these general terms and conditions, the following terms are defined as: a. Events: the events organised by DACT. b. Participant: the individual who has registered for the event in a manner approved by the organiser. c. Registration: the acceptance of the participant to attend the event by submitting the registration form on the event website. d. Event contribution: the fee for attending the event as stated on the website, which the participant must pay in order to attend the event. This also includes costs for optional services such as parking fees, a dinner, or hotel accommodation. e. Organiser: Dutch Association of Corporate Treasurers, located at Transistorstraat 71-M, 1322 CK, Almere, registered with the Chamber of Commerce under number 40240853. Telephone number: 035-6954101.
2. These general terms and conditions apply to every registration.

Article 3. Liability

1. The organiser excludes any liability for the cancellation of the event or changes to the event date.
2. The organiser excludes any liability for damages arising from registration, payment, or participation in the event, unless they are obligated to compensate for such damages under mandatory law. In such cases, the participant must demonstrate liability and the obligation to make payment.
3. In the event the organiser is liable for any payments, their liability will be limited to the event contribution or, if greater, the amount payable by the organiser's liability insurance.
4. This limitation of liability does not apply in cases of intent or gross negligence on the part of the organiser.
5. The organiser accepts no liability for mistakes made by third parties engaged by the organiser for the benefit of the participant, such as, but not limited to, speakers, and the legal and practical management of the event location.
6. If the organiser suffers damage due to an action or failure to act by the participant, the participant will be liable for the resulting damage, which will be claimed by the organiser from the participant. The participant indemnifies the organiser from any claims as mentioned above.

7. The organiser is not liable for loss, theft, or damage to personal belongings during the event.

Article 4. Participation

1. The participant can only attend the event if: a. They have fully completed the registration form; b. The organiser has received the full event contribution (if applicable); c. The participant has agreed to the applicability of these general terms and conditions.
2. Registration can be cancelled. After registration and payment, cancellation can be made by sending an email to the organiser or replying to the confirmation email. A refund of the event contribution will be made. Cancellation with a refund of (part of) the event contribution is possible up until the indicated date in the event information. Participants always have a cooling-off period of 14 days.
3. After registration, the participant will receive a confirmation email from the organiser, along with an invoice (if applicable).
4. If it turns out that the event contribution has been paid more than once, the participant will be refunded the overpaid amount after the event.
5. The organiser does not accept correspondence or liability regarding exclusion due to late payment as mentioned in this article.

Article 5. Confidentiality and Copyright

1. All information regarding or about the participant that the organiser becomes aware of or observes is confidential for its management, lecturers, or staff and will be treated as such. Information is considered confidential if the participant has indicated so, or if the information is clearly business or personal in nature.
2. All materials used in the event are the intellectual property of the organiser. The materials used and published may not be reproduced, alienated from the owner's name, or taken out of context. They may not be used as educational material without the organiser's permission.

Article 6. Cancellation

1. The organiser of the event has the right to cancel the event at any time due to serious or exceptional circumstances. Serious or exceptional circumstances include, but are not limited to, force majeure situations preventing the event from taking place, or situations where the safety of one or more participants is at risk.
2. If the organiser decides to cancel the event due to serious or exceptional circumstances, the event may be postponed to a different date or location, if possible. In this case, the participant's registration will be transferred to the new date or location.
3. The organiser will immediately inform the participant of any postponement or cancellation of the event. The participant will be notified using the contact details known to the organiser.

4. In the event of a postponement or cancellation, the organiser is not obligated to compensate the participant for any expenses incurred in connection with attending the event, such as registration, travel, or accommodation costs.
5. The participant is required to pay a no-show fee if they do not cancel their attendance at least 48 hours in advance by notifying the secretariat at secretariaat@dact.nl. The no-show fee is €50 excl. VAT for a PEP session, €100 for the Summer Conference and €125 for the DACT Academy. Different cancellation terms apply for the DACT Treasury Fair ('Cancellation terms DACT Treasury Fair – DACT members' / <https://www.dact.nl/about-dact/statutes-and-regulations/>).

Article 7. Personal Data

The personal data provided by a participant will be recorded by the organiser in a file. By participating in the event, the participant gives consent to the organiser to use their personal data for sending information related to the event. The organiser will handle this data with the utmost care and will not disclose it to third parties without the participant's express consent, except for third parties engaged by the organiser to register participants.

An exception is made for the industry, which will receive a list of all event participants prior to the event, including their initials, surname, job title, and the organisation where they work.

Article 8. Image Rights

The participant grants the organiser permission in advance to use any photos and images taken during or around the event, in which the participant may appear. The organiser has the right to use these images for promotional purposes and the participant will not seek compensation from the organiser for their use. At the start of the event, the participant can inform the photographer if he/she objects to being photographed or filmed, so this can be taken into account.
